Simpson and Duke in Mild Argument Over Future Home

Former Baltimore Belle Would Choose America
as Their Home

DUKE LIKES AUSTRIA

Marriage Plans Withheld;
Nelson Eddy Offers to Sing at Wedding

MONTS, France.—(AP)—Wallis Simpson and her gay Duke walked arm in arm in the grounds of the ancient Chateau de Candé Wednesday.

Fifty yards in front of the strolling lovers alert British detective paced along with Herman L. Rogers of New York, Mrs. Simpson's friend and spokesman.

The Duke and his betrothed were reported in a mild argument about their choice of a home.

Wallis was understood to be urging America as the land in which the tumult surrounding her royal romance could be forgotten.

Edward was pictured as wanting to make their home in Austria.

Marriage Plans Withheld

The couple chose to keep their marriage plans a secret until after the coronation of his brother.

King George VI will be crowned May 12, as the former Edward VIII was to have been, and until after that event, the duke decided, he will refrain from saying when he will make the former Baltimore belle the Duchess of Windsor.

Herman L. Rogers, announced the decision, and persons close to the couple indicate the marriage likely would not take place before May 18.

The American-born woman and the man who decided that their love was more important than the world's most influential throne were reunited Tuesday afternoon after a separation of five months and one day.

They spent most of the afternoon together, away from the rest of the chateau's party, and, as shadows lengthened and a low-flying airplane attracted their attention, they leaned out of a central tower window to gaze long at a beautiful sunset.

Clouds later obscured the sky, a light rain fell, and, after a late dinner, the couple and their party sat late in conversation around a log fire as a drizzle dampened the pines.

Nelson Eddy Offers Voice

HOUSTON, Texas.—Nelson Eddy, screen baritone, admitting he is romantic, offered his voice to Wallis Simpson and Edward Windsor.

"If they asked me," he said, "I'd certainly like to sing at that wedding. The coronation in England doesn't interest me at all, but I certainly followed that Windsor story. I guess I'm just romantic."

Eddy "fears" for the great lovers of Hollywood because of the British situation.

"I wonder what Robert Taylor and Clark Gable are going to do now that Edward is grabbing off all the space on page one."

"What are you going to do?" the baritone was asked.

"Nothing," he replied. "I'm going to try to stick in the movies for a couple of more years and quit before the public kicks me out. By that time I ought to have enough money to do as I please."

Eddy was slightly annoyed about remarks concerning the wave in his hair.

"I will pay a $500 reward to anybody proving that I ever got a permanent wave, finger-wave, hair-set or anything else in a beauty parlor, except once when I had to wear curls when singing in opera in Philadelphia."

"I am tired of all this slush that has been written about my hair."

23 S.M.U. Students Given Suspension

Suspension Follows Investigation by Discipline Committee

DALLAS, Texas.—(AP)—Dr. H. H. Gutce, chairman of the discipline committee of Southern Methodist University, said Tuesday 23 students had been suspended.

The suspensions followed an investigation by the discipline committee of alleged hazing tactics. Eleven freshmen were ordered suspended for alleged roughness on "Pikers' Day."

April 1. Ten other students also were under four-day suspensions, effective Wednesday morning. Two-day suspensions were ordered for two students. Eight students were reprimanded and placed on probation.

Names of persons involved were not divulged. Several of the suspensions followed the initiation ceremonies for the Funjab, an inter-fraternity organization, April 5.

Their Pre-Coronation Portrait

Posing for their official coronation pictures, King George VI wears the elaborate uniform of the Admiral of the Fleet while Queen Elizabeth looks regal in a simply jeweled coronet and a multiple-strand necklace of pearls. For the coronation, however, they will don the vestments dictated by centuries of tradition.

King Rehearses for Coronation

Is "Crowned" Four Times
as Starry-Eyed Workmen Look On

LONDON.—(AP)—King George VI was crowned four times Tuesday in rehearsal of the coronation a week from Wednesday.

After participating in the centuries-old rite of accepting the baton of a Field Marshal, the sovereign, accompanied by Queen Elizabeth, paid a surprise visit to Westminster Abbey.

Wearing a royal robe over ordinary street clothes, the King rehearsed for two hours with the Archbishop of Canterbury. Queen Elizabeth also wore a royal robe of crimson velvet and ermine. But, as her own coronation was not rehearsed, she spent most of the time watching.

Their audience was a starry-eyed group of workmen in overalls and shirt sleeves who hung over the gallery rails to watch.

"The King didn't seem at all nervous," one of them said. "He was laughing and joking before and after the rehearsals."

Poison Victims Are Recovering

Ten Persons of Judsonia
Are Reported as Improved

JUDSONIA, Ark.—(AP)—Four victims of poison accidentally used as baking powder were reported better Wednesday and hospital attaches at Seavey, where they received treatment, said it was expected all would recover.

Six other persons, treated at home, also were reported recovering satisfactorily.

The poison was used by Mrs. Alvis Salmon as she prepared the noon meal Monday at the home of Will West, whose family was ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Salmon, their five-year-old daughter, Wanda, and Lewis Dill, Mrs. Salmon's father, were treated at the hospital. Others made ill were Mr. and Mrs. West, their two daughters and two other children of the Salmons.

Substitute Court Bill Is Offered

Senator McCarran Would
Add Two New Court
Justices

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Senator McCarran, Democrat, of Nevada, presented to the senate judiciary committee Wednesday a substitute for the Roosevelt court bill.

His plan would provide for two new Supreme Court justices, but no increase in number of lower court judges.

McCarran's plan also would eliminate Mr. Roosevelt's proposal for creation of a court practitioner to watch for court congestion and to assign judges where they were most needed.

This duty would continue to be exercised by the chief justice.

Mrs. L. Fitzhugh Quits State Post

Resignation Is Given to
Bailey Wednesday—No
Successor Yet

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Governor Bailey received Wednesday the resignation of Mrs. Laura Davis Fitzhugh of Augusta, as a member of the Boys Industrial school board.

Governor Bailey withheld appointment of her successor.

Mrs. Fitzhugh announced three weeks ago that she was retiring from membership as a protest of the board's ouster of John Reeves as superintendent. She favored his retention. Bailey insisted upon the appointment of J. C. Dawson of Conway, who was elected.

Paper Plant Helps to Increase Population

CROSSETT, Ark.—(AP)—Crossett officials predicted Tuesday that the 1940 federal census would show this south-east Arkansas city had doubled its population in 10 years as result of construction of a $4,000,000 paper plant here.

The 1920 census gave Crossett a population of 2811. The influx of new citizens began in 1924 when 125 loggers brought their families to town after closing out a camp 10 miles south of here.

End of Hollywood Strike Predicted by Labor Official

Picket Lines, However,
Are Reinforced by Longshoremen

CLASH IS REPORTED

Film Stars Are Not Molested
by Craftsmen
and Laborers

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—(AP)—Picket line reinforcements from Longshoremen and the committee for industrial organization were promised to the film industry Wednesday as a labor conciliator for the major picture producers predicted the end of a five-day strike.

A riotous clash in the headquarters of the International Alliance of theatrical and stage employees Tuesday night apparently marked a crucial turn of 6,000 studio employees, it was reported Wednesday.

Film Strike Rages

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—(AP)—Women were ordered to remain away from the picket lines patrolling Hollywood movie studios as the atmosphere grew more tense in the walkout of film craftsmen and laborers.

One minor disturbance occurred. Police denied reports of a more serious clash between workers and pickets.

At Paramount studio, home lot of Mae West, Gary Cooper, Claudette Colbert and others, a picket aimed his small camera at a scenic artist as he was passing through the line. The worker knocked it out of his hands.

Angry groups gathered instantly about both men, but police dispersed them.

Stars Not Molested

University City police, on duty at Universal Studios, denied that strikers and nonstrikers clashed there. In no case was any star molested.

Scores of celebrated players walked or drove their automobiles through the lines, nodding and exchanging pleasantries with erstwhile employees in the picket lines. They included Greta Garbo, Marlene Dietrich, John Boles, Charles Boyer, Gilbert Roland, Barbara Stanwyck, Dorothy Lamour, Gary Cooper, George Raft, Bing Crosby and many others.

"Hope you're with us soon," a picket called to Raft.

Nursery School to Have Visiting Day

Mrs. Tully Henry Invites
Public to Brookwood
Thursday, Friday

Mrs. Tully Henry, head of the Hope WPA Nursery School, announced Wednesday that the school would observe National Nursery Day Thursday and Friday, and invited the public to inspect the school which is housed in the Brookwood school building.

Mrs. Henry has a school of 30 pupils, ranging in age from three to five years.

The children are brought to the school at 8:30 in the morning and are immediately given medical inspection. This is to detect and correct physical defects, and also to prevent spread of infection.

Any child who has a cold or other ailment is sent home. Dividing the children into older and younger groups, they are given opportunity for both outdoor and indoor play.

In the middle of the morning rait juice is served. A half-hour rest period is allowed before luncheon. The noon meal consists of a protein dish, two vegetables, bread and butter, a desert, and milk. A sample menu is as follows: meat patties, baked potatoes, raw carrot sticks, whole wheat bread and butter sandwiches, fruit cup, and milk. Servings are small but "seconds" are encouraged.

It is taken for granted that unless the plate is cleaned dessert doesn't follow. The children gradually learn to eat new foods. The afternoon nap takes from one to 2½ hours. At 3 o'clock a glass of milk is given, and at 3:30 the children are taken home.

Chairs, tables, basins, etc., are all small enough to fit the children without their being on a constant strain. Gay, colorful pictures are interesting even to the youngest of the children, and often stories are told them, or more important, the children themselves tell stories.

Lawmaker Invokes Law

SALT LAKE CITY.—(AP)—When patrolmen sought to arrest a man driving with out-of-date license plates, he referred them to article 6, section 8 of the state constitution and drove on. He was State Representative Wayne N. Mason, who knew that members of the legislature were immune to arrest for misdemeanors during the legislative session.

Hollywood's Strike Drama

Efforts of executives to rush to completion some 50 film dramas before the long-tenured strike of employees prove unavailing when, following refusal of the demand for a closed shop, the Federated Motion Picture Crafts ordered the walkout. Girl artists and studio workers are pictured on picket duty at the gate to the Paramount lot.

Spencer Elected to Head Bankers

Is Chosen as Vice-President at Concluding Session
Wednesday

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—The Arkansas Bankers' association elected James H. Penick of Little Rock as president of its organization at its concluding session Wednesday.

The group named Lloyd Spencer of Hope as vice-president, and J. Ray Anderson of Green Forest as treasurer.

C. P. Boyd, district RA Farm Debt Adjustment supervisor, will be in Hope, Friday, May 14, to attend the regular monthly meeting of the Hempstead county FDA committee, which is to be held at 10 a. m. at the Resettlement Administration, which includes Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

Their work consists of bringing distressed farm debtors and their creditors together, giving reliable information and counsel to both and devising workable plans to stop hasty foreclosures. This service is free to all worthy debt-burdened farmers.

Debtors are helped to rebuild debt-paying morale and good farmers are kept from becoming tenants. Methods used are debt reduction, interest rate reduction, an extension of time, or a combination of these and other methods acceptable to both creditor and debtor.

Further information concerning the services of this committee may be secured from the chairman, the extension agent or the R. A. rehabilitation supervisor of this county.

Bibles in 26 different languages are circulated in Ceylon.

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Revenue Commissioner Dave Ford indicated Wednesday that he would take to the Supreme Court, if necessary, his fight to revoke beer sale licenses of four Hot Springs establishments that he charged with permitting violation of gaming laws.

Group Visits Governor

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—Charging that "bookies" and other gambling establishments in Hot Springs have been running "full blast" since shortly after the close of the Oklahoma racing season, April 3, a delegation of Hot Springs citizens called upon Governor Bailey Tuesday seeking aid in bringing about law enforcement in the resort city.

Fearing reprisals by Mayor Leo P. McLaughlin and other city and county political bosses if their identity became known, they requested that their names be not published.

"Bookies are being operated in the same establishments as beer parlors," said one member of the delegation. "You cannot enter several of them without passing through the beer concessions. They are running just as wide open now as they were before state revenue agents raided them, seized and burned several thousand dollars worth of gambling equipment, several months ago."

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. What is a gracious way to accept a verbal invitation?

2. Does the hostess at a bridge party shake hands with her guests?

3. What might a departing guest say to his hostess to show appreciation for a nice evening?

4. If a hostess walks through a door before her guests to show the way, should she say, "Excuse me for going first?"

5. Is it gracious of a hostess to mention that she is having a party to pay back all the persons to whom she is indebted?

What would you do if—

You are invited to a bridge party which you would like to attend, but you know that you would have to leave before the other guests would be ready to go—

(a) Refuse the invitation graciously?

(b) Accept the invitation, but tell your hostess you will have to leave early?

(c) Accept the invitation and leave whenever you have to?

Answers

1. "Thank you, I'd love to come."

2. Yes.

3. "Thank you very much," or "Thank you for a delightful evening."

4. Yes.

5. No. It robs her invitation of hospitality.

Turned Brown By Brown Turner

LONGVIEW, Tex.—Federal Reserve Bank comes out and says business failed to take spring fever this year, and almost every line except relief has picked up considerably, so it looks like about the only thing to guard against in the next few weeks is the boll weevil and grasshopper plagues.

The weevil never has lost his appetite for cotton, even though beer's legal, and the grasshopper's so darned hardheaded he'll eat anything in a pinch if he catches the jaybirds looking the other way. Even the widow spiders must have found husbands, as you don't hear about them any more.

Peacher said he would submit his resignation to the regular meeting of the city council Wednesday night. He had made no plans for the future, he said.

Flood Danger Is Believed Removed

Unless Heavy Rains Fall
Mississippi Will Crest
Soon

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(AP)—United States engineers and meteorologists expressed confidence the Mississippi river would crest on its late spring rise at Memphis unless heavy rains fall in the upper watersheds.

Meteorologist W. E. Barron at Cairo, Ill., said he expected a probable crest of the Ohio there of 47 to 48 feet by Sunday, and a probable crest of the Mississippi at New Madrid, Mo., by Monday.

At Memphis, Meteorologist F. W. Brist reported a stage of 25.3 feet and said the Mississippi would reach a stage of 33.5 May 12 or 13 and around 40 feet at Helena, Ark.

Reports from Charleston, Mo., said the flow of Mississippi river backwater through a crevasse in the lower "fuse plug" levee into the Birds Point New Madrid floodway was stopped temporarily. Sharecroppers are being removed against further rise.

Brist predicted a continued rise in the St. Francis river with a crest of 20 feet or slightly higher at St. Francis, Ark., May 9. The White river in Arkansas passed flood stage by 12 feet at Batesville Tuesday, but indications pointed to a crest and a falling river by Wednesday night.

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—K. W. This occurred in a hotel at Monticello where McDonald had gone to deliver a campaign address, Perkins said.

He was one of only two state witnesses presented during the morning in McDonald's trial on charges of obtaining

Balancing Budget Calls for Stern Measures

THE Congress evidently wouldn't have an objection in the world to balancing the budget, if the job could be done without either levying new taxes or cutting down on spending.

Early reception of the President's budget recommendations in Congress ought to make it easy for anyone to understand why it is such a mortally hard job to cut down on government spending once you get it started.

Mr. Ordinary Congressman, who is in there with a pet bill to spend $100,000,000 on the deepening, straightening, beautification, and elimination of roadside ditches, gets up and hammers the tub as soon as that lovely word, economy, is mentioned. He is all for it, he thinks it is fine.

X X X

BUT a great change comes over him as soon as someone suggests that his own $100,000,000 project must be one of the things to be dropped.

This project is different. It is vitally necessary. The country needs it. He will fight like grim death to save it. The $100,000,000 involved can easily be saved by making cuts elsewhere—by digging, for example, into the $200,000,000 which his good friend and colleague, Representative Gerryman, would spend on the eradication of painter's colic.

Hearing this, Representative Gerryman—who has been yelling for economy with the best of them—utters pitiful moans and announces that his bill is precisely the one bill which is indisputably essential. Let it stay on the docket, and save money by weeding the surviving Republicans out of the clerical staffs in the government departments.

Presently, before the outsider knows quite what is happening, these two congressmen get together and agree to stand fast for each other's bills and to try to make the needed savings elsewhere. Their circle grows, as other congressmen with pet projects join them; and the upshot, as likely as not, is that Congress blandly appropriates half a billion more than it appropriated the year before, and bows in the direction of economy by reducing the staffs of half a dozen of the federal bureaus which are actually doing some useful work.

X X X

THERE is no particular point in reviewing all this here, except to remark that the way to cut expenses is—surprisingly enough—to cut expenses. If we are going to balance the budget, a lot of pet projects will have to be discarded. The government will have to forego doing various things which probably ought to be done. It will have to withhold money from causes that genuinely need money.

If the resoluteness and hardboiledness to do just that sort of thing are not forthcoming, we shall not get a balanced budget.

Wise Move

AVIATION has made splendid progress in recent years, but there apparently are limits to the feats that modern airmen can achieve. For that reason, the French Air Ministry has indicated that it may postpone the New York-Paris non-stop race, proposed to commemorate the 10th anniversary of the start of Colonel Lindbergh's famous solo hop.

The Ministry was influenced by protests that the hop was an extremely hazardous undertaking and might easily result in tragedy.

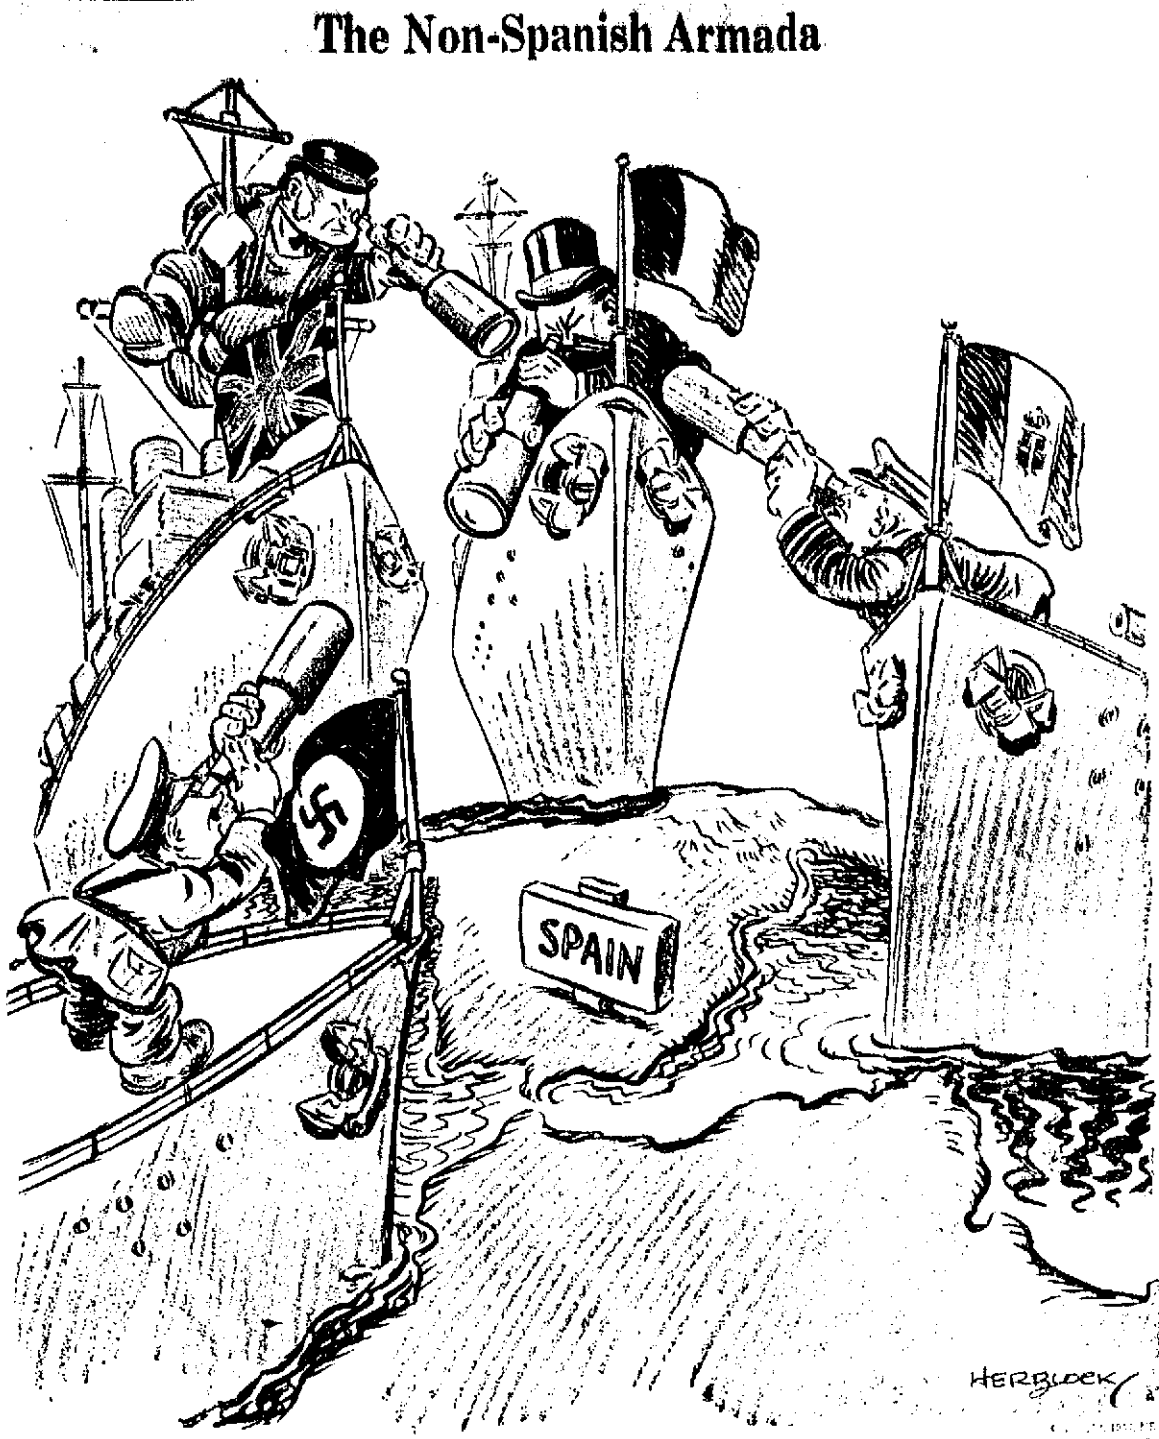

It would of course disappoint some adventurous souls, but if the race is postponed until some time as further progress has minimized its dangers, it would seem the best policy. The race is intended to honor America's famed aviator, but America's appreciation of the honor would be clouded if valuable lives were lost.

The Family Doctor

By DR. MORRIS FISHEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

Here Are Rules That Tuberculosis Victims, Young and Old, Should Follow

- (No. 205)
- For the tuberculosis victim many popular books are now available that can guide him in his own personal hygiene and in preventing him from spreading the disease to those about him. The books of Lawson Brown, Hawes, Minor and Potts, particularly, may be recommended.
- To avoid tuberculosis, children should avoid infection, use pasteurized milk, keep their nutrition and hygiene at the highest possible point, and be removed promptly from the neighborhood of any adult who has the disease.
- At the ages of 11, 14, and 16, children may be given tuberculin tests. Those who react positively should also be examined with the X-ray.
- For adults in general the following 13 suggestions outlined by Dr. Charles L. Minor are worthy of note:
1. Never exercise to the point of fatigue. If you find yourself tired, you have done yourself harm.
 2. Remember that rest comes before exercise. By resting, a surplus of strength and energy is built up and stored in the body.
 3. Aim to spend as much of each day as possible outdoors or in absolutely fresh air. Remember that the air, to be fresh, need not necessarily be cold.
 4. Ideal food should be appetizing, nutritious, and not too bulky. If appetizing and not nutritious, it will not nourish you; if nutritious and not appetizing, you will not eat it; if too bulky, however appetizing, it upsets your stomach.
 5. Eat up to the limit of your digestion. It is the food that is digested and absorbed, and not what is put into your mouth, that will do you good. A glass of milk with each meal is advisable. Raw eggs are not so digestible as cooked eggs. Take nothing between meals unless ordered by your doctor.
 6. If your digestion is poor, tell your doctor.
 7. Eat your meals at regular hours. Do not take reading matter to the table. Smiles and laughter are the best possible aids to digestion.
 8. Approach and leave each meal in a rested condition. Never eat when tired. Never exercise immediately after eating.
 9. In winter use warm, light, or medium wool underwear; in summer, ordinary summer cotton underwear.
 10. Never wear very heavy underclothing or chest protectors.
 11. Let your shoes be stout and warm in winter and wear warm woolen socks, by all means. Woolen socks often are a great comfort at night. In winter, a flannel shirt is much more comfortable than anything else. When sitting out in winter, have an extra wrap near by.
 12. If you get overheated and perspire, change your clothing and rub yourself dry.
 13. A healthy condition of the skin is most important. A warm bath once or twice a week if ordered by your physician is advisable, and a cool sponge bath or a tub bath in the morning if your doctor permits it. Remember that the water should be cool but not ice cold. If you do not have proper reaction after your bath, if you feel chilly or are blue, the water is too cold. Ask your doctor about it. See that your room or bathroom or wherever you take your bath is warm.

Child's Health Geared to Happiness

Healthy children are happy children, happy in the sense of being contented and energetic.

The well child may differ from other children in good health, by being thinner and even eating less, but there is no mistaking genuine vitality and well-being. Eyes are bright, color is good and there is a steady gain in weight. This gain may be very slight

AFRAID to Love

By MARION WHITE © 1937 NEA SERVICE, INC.

HE was still chuckling to himself this morning as he came in through Joan's office.

"So you're running off on Saturday," he said, for the 20th time. "Think you can get all that work cleared up first? I doubt it. Not with your mind in the clouds the way it is. . . . Heaven help you, young lady, if you get my investments all muddled. I'll take it out of your husband's pocket, so help me, I will."

He laughed, continuing on into his own office. At the door he hesitated, and called back: "I'm expecting a Mr. Norton—Charley Norton—from Sacramento. Show him right in, will you?"

Remembering what Bob had said, Joan pondered over Mr. Norton. A close friend of Mr. Hendry's, yet this matter of the Bella Terra mine might be a little shady, she thought. He had said little about it, and she had not asked, probably because they were so completely involved with their own personal plans.

Norton arrived shortly after 10 o'clock. As he entered her office, she looked up in sudden surprise. She caught her breath sharply, remembering an old woman's words: "A tall, dark man. And Death."

Charles Norton was unquestionably the tallest, darkest man she had ever seen. He must have stood every bit of six feet four—a powerfully built giant of a man. He had a heavy mass of black hair, and his eyes were dark and piercing. As he looked at you, they seemed to burn deep into your mind, as if they could read one's most secret thoughts.

Joan ushered him into Mr. Hendry's office and the two men greeted each other heartily. She shut the door and returned to her desk. For a moment she stood there, thinking, against her will: "A tall, dark man. Presently, she forced herself, presently, to get to work. She was being ridiculous. Utterly ridiculous. It was the man himself, she decided, whose personality haunted her.

AN hour or so later, Mr. Hendry's buzzer over her desk sounded. She picked up her note-book and went into his office.

Norton got up gracefully and offered her his chair.

"We'd like to draw up an agreement," Mr. Hendry stated, "a sort of tentative option on the Bella Terra mine. Oh, this is Mr. Norton, Miss Barrett. . . . There's a chair for you, Charley. Bring it over."

To Joan, he remarked, jovially, "You wouldn't think, would you, that Charley Norton and I prospect together 40 years ago? No,

Make it a point to obtain one or more of the 1937 novelties for your garden. The All-American selections are especially outstanding this year.

Try a new one of the many different types of sweet corn.

If your garden tools were not oiled and put away in a dry place last fall, they will need attention now. Get them out to sharpen for ready use.

Poppy, larkspur and bachelor button seeds may go into the ground as soon as the frost is out.

Tomato seeds sown now in a box in the house will save you a considerable sum over the cost of buying the seedlings, and give you a better choice of variety.

Inspect your lawn for bare spots and reseed.

An asparagus bed is a luxury in any garden. Start one now, and you will have quantities of this delicious vegetable for years to come. Two year old roots are best.

Make plans for a year around garden, so that you may have fresh vegetables on the table from early spring to late fall, with a goodly stock left over for the winter.

Have your supply of plant food on hand for your first days in the garden. You will need it then as you will later.

If your order to the seedsman has not already gone forth, you had better send it immediately. Planting season is practically here.

Nothing makes a neater and more compact miniature hedge for edging than dwarf signata pumila marigolds.

An application of complete plant food is oftentimes the best remedy for ailing flowers.

You will need plenty of Golden Bantam sweet corn seed.

Review Reports Spin Best Yarns

Seated at the "valuta" counter in a Moscow hotel with half a dozen other foreign correspondents Eugene Lyons, United Press staff man, seized on an idea.

Here, he said to himself, "is a unique gathering. These correspondents are the eyes of America in the outside world. If the quintessence of his talk, half serious, half banter, but all of it in deadly earnest underneath, could be recorded, what a magnificent book it would make!"

And a certainly magnificent book it did make. "We Cover the World" (Harcourt, Brace; $3) is a series of "shop talk" yarns about big men and big events around the world.

Into its pages have been crowded the random impressions, the "best stories" of veteran Jim Mills, A. P. scoop hunter for 30 years; Negley Farson; Webb Miller, United Press ace war correspondent; Linton Wells of L. N. S.; Hallett Abend of the New York Times; Julius B. W. of the Chicago Daily News; Frazier Hunt, world-roving reporter for NEA Service, and many others.

With Mills, for instance, you go behind the scenes for the first time to check-up twice yearly. It does not take long for the doctor to test heart, lungs, kidneys and so on, and it is a grand feeling to know that your child is organically sound.

Symptoms Elude Layman

As for nose, throat, ears, teeth and the like, the ordinary boy of infection in children, parents may suspect trouble and seek advice, but again there may be some elusive condition that only the practiced eye will be able to detect.

Mothers are so often afraid of operations that they put off knowing the truth, whereas the truth may be a relief, the discovery that the child is perfectly free from serious toxins and needs only treatment—or perhaps nothing at all. Nevertheless, these check-ups are strongly advised today, because the future is long, and early correction saves so much worry and trouble later.

Eyes should certainly be examined also. If one drafts putting glasses on a child, it is comforting to think that glasses worn for a year or two in childhood often obviate the necessity of donning them for good when high school is reached. And if the child needs them, he needs them indeed. Eyes are very precious.

It sounds like a tall order, doesn't it, all these pilgrimages in search of trouble? But the point really is to escape trouble, or to correct it before it becomes an enemy that refuses to yield to the best of care.

One of the weakest spots in our public school systems, in many localities, is the lack of thorough physical examinations.

Schools Can't Do Job Right

This is due partly to lack of funds, but often to the argument between civic authorities and school boards as to whose responsibility child-health really is. Well—in the last analysis it is the parents', but there is no getting round the fact that many parents cannot possibly have their children inspected. Perhaps, however, if parents expressed their earnest wishes on this point to school boards, or local councils, something could be settled. How can we live up to the resolutions of our "Children's Charter," with so many neglected children getting on attention whatsoever?

In the meantime, it is urged that parents make a sincere effort to do what they can to give the family a clean bill of health, to make a confident of their doctor and seek his co-operation on a basis of time and terms to pay. There is usually a way, if people are honestly seeking help.

Chuckles From Film Land—How an Uncanny Scott Walked Four Miles for Gas, and What He Did With It . . . The Sad Tale of the Chubby Chorine

HOLLYWOOD—Randolph Scott is still in pretty vile humor after something that happened while he was driving to Palm Springs the other day. He ran out of gas and had to walk two miles in a blazing sun to a filling station.

Nobody offered him a lift, and the station attendant didn't have a car handy. So Scott walked back, carrying a heavy can of gas and getting a little dizzy with the heat. Lots of cars whisked by but none of the tourists recognized the dusty pedestrian as a movie star in distress.

Finally he completed the return trip, and poured the fuel into the tank. Then he walked around to get in and drive on his way. Suddenly his sun-baked mind focused on a terrible fact—his own automobile stood a few hundred yards up the road. He had poured the gas into somebody else's car.

Fast Work

Two women were browsing in a boulevard bookshop the other day when one of them held up a copy of Anthony Hope's "The Prisoner of Zenda" and exclaimed: "Look, Helen—the picture isn't released yet and already they got it out in book form!"

Pecuniary Foul

And on the same day, swears Harry Mose, a chorus girl angling in a drug store and evidently was making for the soda fountain for a sandwich and sundae or something when she passed a weighing machine.

She stopped, considered for a moment, then fished a penny from her purse and got on the scale. The needle flipped to 128 pounds—too many pounds, as her look of consternation showed.

But she wasn't licked yet. She took another coin from her purse and held it between her teeth. Took her fur piece from her neck and draped it over her left arm. Next she removed two heavy brilliant-studded bracelets and dropped them into her purse.

Holding purse and fur piece, she stepped on the scale and deposited the

With glove-trotter Hunt you whirl across the frozen wastes of northern Russia on a winter's night and help capture Vladivostok. Hallett Abend gives you 10 years in the Orient; Karl Von Wiegand covers his favorite assignment, world aviation; and Webb Miller plunges you into the heart of the "Little World War in Spain."

There are other chapters by William Henry Chamberlin, George Selles, Mary Knight, Frank H. Hedges, Randall Gould, Jack Starr-Hunt, H. R. Elkins, and Lyons himself.

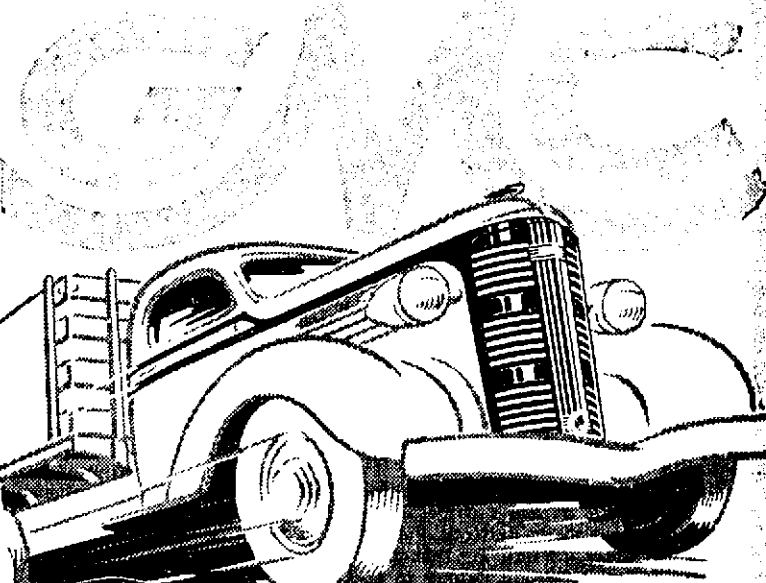

True enough, "We Cover the World" is a transient sort of book. But as a front seat at the big events of world history in the last 25 years it's a real "beat."—P. G. F.

Dangerous Seeds

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — (AP) — High prices for alfalfa seed, base of one of this state's principal crops, have given the state department of agriculture a new problem.

Cheap seed shipped here has been seized and analyzed and found to consist of as high as 29 per cent weed seed. In one specimen, it was determined that in every pound of seed sown by a farmer he would be planting 105,294 weeds.

I saw the morning with purple quiver and crimson bow, stand tip-toe on the horizon and shoot sunbeams at the vanishing darkness of night. Then I saw her reach up and gather the stars. And hide them in her bosom. And then bend down and tickle the slumbering world with Straws of light 'till it woke with laughter and with song. A thousand bugle calls from the rosy fire of the East heralded her coming; a thousand smiling meadows kissed her garments as she passed, and ten thousand laughing gardens waved their flower flags to greet her; the heart of the deep forest throbbed a tribute of bird song, and the bright waters rippled a melody of welcome. Young life and love, radiant with hope and sparkling with the dewdrops of exultant joy, came hand in hand, tripping and dancing in her shining train, and I wished that the morning might last forever.—Selected.

The above symphony in prose came from a speech entitled Love, Laughter and Song, and is found in Lectures and Best Literary Productions of Bob Taylor of Tennessee and is from a volume of his entitled "Echoes" published in Nashville in 1888; now out of print.

Banks Resigns at Stuttgart Station

Rice Experiment Station Director Accepts Post at Osceola

STUTTGART, Ark.—G. H. Banks, assistant director of the rice branch experiment station for the past 12 years, announced his resignation Tuesday, effective as soon as a new director is appointed. This probably will be within two or three weeks.

Mr. Banks has accepted a position with the Purina Milling Company at Osceola.

He has been connected with the rice station since 1926. During that time he has supervised many experiments in rice, oats and soy bean culture at the station, specializing in the soy bean as an alternate crop with rice. He succeeded, through the co-operation of Stuttgart business men and farmers, in making the soy bean a staple prairie crop. In recent years, his experiments with oats suitable for the prairie have resulted in great increases in the oats acreage in the country.

In his new work he will direct the operations of a 25-acre soy bean experiment plot near Osceola, to determine varieties best suited for meal production.

STORIES IN STAMPS BY I. S. KLEIN

RESCUER OF DYING EXPLORERS

LEUT. A. W. GREELY, American soldier and explorer, had reached farthest north in 1892, and, with his band of 24 men, awaited a relief ship. None came that year, none the next. He withdrew 400 miles south in search of supplies and found none. His men began to die of cold and hunger. Only seven remained, when relief came. Commodore Winfield Scott Schley had sailed 1400 miles through menacing ice packs, to bring back the Greely survivors. For this, and for his participation in the Battle of Santiago Bay during the Spanish-American War, is Schley remembered. Born in 1839, he had moved up gradually with active service in foreign waters, until after the war, he was made rear admiral. His record was marred by severe criticism of an unfortunate maneuver which he had ordered during the Santiago encounter, and which delayed the American victory. He died in 1911, at the age of 72.

Tigers Held to 4 Hits, Yanks Win

Lefty Gomez In Great Form—Crossetti Gets Homer in Ninth

DETROIT—(AP)—The world champion Yankees got off to an auspicious start on their first western trip Tuesday. Lefty Gomez, their stylish left-hander, held the Detroit Tigers to four hits as the New Yorkers won 10-1, and went into a first-place tie with Mickey Cochrane's crew.

The Yanks clinched the game in the first three innings. They scored seven runs at the expense of Jake Wade, the Tigers' in-and-out southpaw, and although Rookie George Gill pitched with fair effectiveness the rest of the way, the damage already had been done.

The champions' Italian strongarm squad Joe DiMaggio, Frank Crosetti and Tony Lazzeri—were the leaders in the victory. Between them they gathered half of the fourteen hits and drove in six runs. DiMaggio's bat proved the impetus for four.

Crossetti hit a home run in the ninth, the second of his two. Lazzeri had two doubles and DiMaggio a triple and a double. Gerald Walker, whose double extended his hitting streak to ten games, drove in Billy Rogell for the Tigers' lone run on a long fly in the eighth.

Gomez struck out nine, four in the first two innings.

Red Sox Outslug Browns

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Scoring heavily in five innings, the Boston Red Sox defeated the St. Louis Browns in a slugfest Tuesday, 11 to 6. Beau Bell hit a home run for the Browns and Fabian Gaffke connected with a 4-base clout for the Red Sox. Both blows came with runners on base.

Sens Rally to Win

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Washington Senators staged a seven run rally in the eleventh inning Tuesday to shatter a five-all tie and defeat the Cleveland Indians 12 to 5.

Jonesboro Seeking Grid Game With Camden Team

JONESBORO—Attempts are being made to book Russellville and Camden for games on the Jonesboro High School football schedule next fall, Coach Lowell Manning said Tuesday.

Following the Arkansas Athletic Association's decision that Hope would not be reinstated until December, Manning began negotiations with Russellville to come here October 15 to fill the vacancy left by Hope. Since he has had no reply from Normandy or Maplewood High schools in St. Louis, he is seeking to book a scrap with Camden at Camden October 22.

The present schedule will give Jonesboro six conference foes and seven games on the home gridiron. Other teams booked include Blytheville, Forrest City, Paragould, Little Rock, Little Rock Catholic High and Teah High of Memphis. The opener will be played with some northeastern Arkansas school.

The first underwater highway tunnel in America was built under the Chicago river during 1866-69. It had two roadways and a footpath, but now is used for surface cars only.

The PAYOFF

By RICHARD McCANN
NEA Service Sports Writer
It is reported that Mr. Burleigh (Ed Just as Soon Leave, Anyway) Grimes is keeping score on the number of base hits that bounce off the right field screen in Ebbets Field.

Under the present ground rules at the Flatbush Sanitarium, any drive striking said screen entitles the batter only to the number of bases he can make safely. Mr. Grimes would change that.

He has the notion that this screen is going to be quite an easy target for his topheavy left-hand batting order and for the first few weeks he is going to count the number of drives his boys bounce off the fence in comparison to the enemies' totals.

And if the Dodgers dent the screen of Mr. Grimes is going to notify the league that henceforth, hereafter, and until further notice any drive hitting the screen shall be and is hereby a home run.

Manush Can Do It
This used to be the old ground rule at Flatbush until Casey Stengel found that in 1935 the visiting firemen practically tore the netting apart.

"Of course," says Mr. Grimes, "my boys have got to show me beyond any

There was a terrific din and bricks spewed in every direction a few seconds after this picture was taken of a chimney literally tumbling to destruction in Peoria, Ill. Workmen chiseled out a few bricks at the base, the tall figure swayed, bent, crumpled, crushed.

Hubbell Wins 19th Consecutive Game

New York Southpaw Is Tied With Old Stars for Win Record

NEW YORK—(AP)—Carl Owen Hubbell, peerless southpaw of the New York Giants emerged from the showers late Tuesday to find himself credited with his third consecutive victory of the current season—his 19th in succession over a two-year stretch—as the consequence of a singular match between the National league champions and the cellar-dwelling Cincinnati Reds. The score was 7 to 6.

The Giants staked their ace pitcher to a seven-run lead in three frames, thanks largely to a brace of homers by Shortstop Dick Bartel and Hubbell's own prowess in hitting safely twice in a big third-inning rally, but it was barely enough. The screwball master lost all but one run of this advantage after pitching hitless ball for four innings and finally was knocked out of the box in the seventh. He was touched for nine hits, but fanned 10 Redlegs before being sent to the showers for the first time since last July 26, when Cincinnati also was the cause of his discomfort.

Tall, right-handed Harry Cumbert retired the last seven Red batsmen in succession to save the game for Hubbell and the Giants, who thus advanced to a second-place tie with the St. Louis Cardinals as the National league's first intersection warfare began.

On the anniversary of a heart-breaking 1-0 setback at the hands of the Reds just one year ago, Hubbell was surprisingly hard-pressed to keep his wonderful winning streak intact. By registering his 19th in a row, in league competition, he sustained a record comparable to the achievements of two other renowned pitching masters of the Giants, Tim Lincecum and Rube Marquard. These two, in 1888 and 1912, respectively, hung up 19 straight for the all-time season mark.

Technically, Hubbell cannot be bracketed with them but not for a quarter century has any such pitching consistency been witnessed in the major leagues. The Oklahoma screwball king dropped a decision to the Yankees in the last world series but has not been beaten by National league opposition since July 13 last.

Pirates 10, Dodgers 3
BROOKLYN—(AP)—Though out-hit 10 to 8, the Pittsburgh Pirates won the opening game of their eastern swing by defeating the hapless Dodgers Tuesday, 10-3.

Bees Swamp Cards
BOSTON—(AP)—Lou Fette, Boston Bees' rookie righthander, held the St. Louis Cardinals to three hits Tuesday when his mates battered four of the "Gas House" pitchers for 16 hits and an 8-1 triumph.

Cubs Romp on Phils
PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs hit the Phillies pitchers at will Tuesday overwhelming the locals 14 to 7. Manager Jimmy Wilson hit a homer in the third inning, and Collins, Morini and Bortinini made circuit drives in the eighth inning for the Cubs.

Zoo keepers, in mild climates, find the polar bears in a happier frame of mind during the hot summer months than during the winter. They seldom seek shade, even during the most torrid heat wave.

doubt that they can hit the screen more often than the other guys. I think Heinie Manush will do it enough, all right, but I'll need more than just Heinie. If Wussett, Lavacetto, Bruck, Bucher, and Phelps can bang balls off the netting, then I'll change the rule and make those drives home runs."

Mr. Grimes isn't by any manner of means the first baseball man to arrange his park for the benefit of his ball players. Why, only a few years ago when Al Simmons was sold to Chicago by Connie Mack, Mr. Louis Comiskey went to the trouble of digging up the home plate and moving it a little closer to the left field wall, hoping and thinking that the Poling Fole would belt out a flock of home runs.

Mack Helped Grove
Old Connie Mack, himself, wasn't above fixing up his park to aid his players.

When long and lean Lefty Grove was rearing back and firing them in for the Athletics a few years back, Mr. Mack had his ground-keeper build up the Shibe Park pitching mound to the maximum height of 15 inches above the home plate.

Indignant rival managers, sick of seeing Grove's fireball sweeping down on the batter from the clouds, claimed that Mr. Mack really had the mound higher than permitted by law.

Mr. Clark Griffith had different ideas when his speedball king, Walter Johnson, was reigning.

Sir Walter, you see, was so superior to his American League contemporaries that he needed no geological help, but, on the other hand, the Washington hitters, as ever, were rather weak.

So Griff had the Washington pitching mound shaved down to the level of the rest of the infield, thus enabling the local boys to find the rival pitchers easier to hit.

McGraw Did It, Too
John McGraw, who learned his stuff from the old Orioles, was not above such tricks, either.

He was once accused of raising the Polo Grounds base lines slightly, making the field somewhat saucer-shaped, so that his team, all of them expert bunters, would be just that much better at the art of laying 'em down and beating 'em out.

A STRIKING BEAUTY

Martha O'Driscoll, moving picture starlet, hopes she doesn't fail to make a hit in the films. However, although Martha missed the ball which is settling into Jean Dante's glove here, she is quite good at softball, having starred at it in high school.

Second Game of Vol-Peb Series Postponed Because of Rain

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—The second game of the series between the Nashville Vols and the Little Rock Travelers was postponed because of rain Tuesday. The game will be played when the Travelers return to Sulphur Dell late in August.

The series will be resumed Wednesday. Jennings, Poindexter is expected to pitch for the Travelers. He will be opposed by Woodrow Johnson. Both are left-handers. The Travelers move into Knoxville Thursday for a three-game series with the Smokies.

Little Rock will return home Sunday for a two-week stay. The travelers oppose the Atlanta Crackers in a double-header Sunday starting a five-game series. Night play is scheduled to begin Monday.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—(AP)—Carl Doyle's stellar relief pitching gave the Memphis Chicks a 6 to 4 triumph over the Knoxville Smokies here Tuesday. Doyle went to Walter Stewart's rescue in the first inning after the Smokies had tallied four runs on five hits and limited Knoxville to four singles for

Paul Dean to Have Arm Operation Soon

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Paul Dean of the St. Louis Cardinals' pitching staff made arrangements to enter a hospital for an operation, either Wednesday or Thursday, on his injured right shoulder.

Examination of the shoulder with a new X-ray machine, which "sees around bone," disclosed a torn piece of cartilage in the shoulder socket was responsible for Paul's pitching difficulties.

Dr. Robert Hyland, Cardinal club surgeon, who will perform the operation, declined to discuss the younger Dean's chances of being restored to his former efficiency.

Action on New Bills to Await President's Return

Rebel Battleship Sunk by Loyalist Airplanes

When Spanish government planes bombed and sank the rebel warship Espana, above, in the Bay of Biscay, off Santander, it was the first time in world history that a big battleship had succumbed to air attack under war conditions. The battle was dramatic. A little British freighter tried to run the Bilbao blockade. The 15,452-ton Espana dove to and the freighter ran for Santander. The Espana opened fire and the freighter flashed radio calls for aid. Thirty-two Loyalist planes in Santander took to the air, circled over the Espana and began dropping bombs. There was a direct hit on the poopdeck. The Espana sank.

TALKING WAGES THROUGH A HAT

The Average American Factory Wage Earner Works Only a Fraction as Many Hours Today as He Did in 1914 to Earn Enough to Buy Typical Commodities.

Technology Boosts Buying Power of American Consumer's Income

Values Are Greater and Wages Are Higher in Industry Today

CHICAGO—Prices of 20 widely used machine-made products measured in buying power of factory wages are 63 per cent lower today than in 1914, according to a pamphlet "Technology and the American Consumer" recently published by the Machinery Institute.

A man's felt hat which cost $2.85 in 1914 can be bought today for $2.15 according to the Institute study, but to buy the 1914 hat the average factory worker spent the earnings of 11 1/2 hours of labor whereas he can obtain the 1937 hat with the earnings of 3 1/2 hours of labor. The average factory wage in 1914 was 24.7 cents an hour whereas today it is more than 63 cents, according to National Industrial Conference Board reports cited in the pamphlet.

Shoes are Cheaper
"The time required to earn the average pair of shoes has dropped from 9 hours and 15 minutes in 1914 to 3 hours and 24 minutes today, although the price dropped only from $2.30 to $2.10," according to the pamphlet. "A 60-watt electric light bulb which cost 43 cents in 1914 was greatly inferior to one selling for 12 or 15 cents today and the time required to earn the respective bulbs has dropped from 1 3/4 hours to 12 minutes.

"The factory worker today can buy as much tobacco with the earnings of an hour and 48 minutes as he could with the earnings of more than 4 hours in 1914."

BILBAO, Spain. The Basques said they would defy the insurgent fleet and would evacuate refugees from besieged Bilbao Wednesday night in Spanish ships which will be protected outside the three-mile limit.

Tucker Prison Farm Will Be Sold Soon

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Governor Bailey said Tuesday he was confident a deal would be closed for sale by the state of Tucker prison farm property within the next few months. The resettlement administration recently completed an appraisal of the properties.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rain to Go
The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks ugly.
Laxatives are only makeshifts. A more powerful movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely.
